COWS AND PARROTS, DOGS AND FERRETS...

you'll find lots of animals at the annual Open House of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine! More than 40 exhibits and demonstrations at this student-run event showcase the science and caring that goes into veterinary medicine.

Admission is free, and no registration is required to attend.

Groups of all sizes and ages are welcome. (Please note: There will be many live animals at Open House, but the public may not bring animal guests.)

Visit vetmed.illinois.edu/openhouse/ for a list of exhibits or call 217/333-2907 with other questions.
