

The Veterinary Clinical Medicine Department and the Veterinary Teaching Hospital at the College of Veterinary Medicine, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, is seeking applicants for an Instructor/Lecturer position in Small Animal Emergency Medicine. The Small Animal Emergency and Critical Care Service is currently comprised of two full-time diplomates of the ACVECC, 4 ECC residents, 2 ECC specialty interns, 9 rotating interns, and 32 veterinary technicians. The emergency service has a robust caseload and is looking for candidates that enjoy working in a fast-paced emergency room and contributing to the clinical instruction to veterinary professional students.

Requirements: Preference will be given to candidates who have demonstrated an interest in emergency medicine and willingness to instruct students with varied experience. Candidates must have a DVM degree (or equivalent). This position is an immersion-style training program for new graduates interested in becoming emergency clinicians.

Duties: This position is a 51-100% appointment in the Department of Veterinary Clinical Medicine. The appointment will be a non-tenured, academic position with a negotiable starting date after the closing date. Responsibilities for this position include primary case management of patients presenting to the small animal emergency service, communication with referring veterinarians, collaborative medicine within the Veterinary Teaching Hospital, and collaborative participation in the delivery of instruction to professional veterinary students during their clinical year. Emergency duties may include evening and weekend hours.

Professional opportunities: The College maintains a full-service 230,000 sq. ft. state-of-the-art hospital for companion and zoological companion animals that supports, engages, and advances the teaching and research activities of the college. In 2020, the Veterinary Medicine South Clinic opened where the Wildlife Medical Clinic shares the clinical space with the Primary Care, Urgent Care, and Zoological Medicine services. Over the past 2 years, the Veterinary Teaching Hospital has made large investments in infrastructure, including a newly renovated small animal emergency room, intensive care unit, intermediate care ward, Purina nutrition room, client waiting area and patient exam rooms, in addition to renovations for our small animal internal medicine, surgery and anesthesia services.

Personal opportunities: Urbana-Champaign offers the residential advantages of a medium-sized university city, excellent cultural opportunities, and a high quality of life. Candidate's will find a richly diverse population, four beautiful seasons, a vibrant arts and entertainment scene, a variety of outdoor recreation opportunities, and the excitement of Big Ten sports events. East central Illinois is an area that features a unique blend of high-tech companies and friendly, small-town hospitality.

Salary: Commensurate with applicant's experience and qualifications. The University of Illinois offers a complete benefits package. A summary explanation of these benefits can be found at <https://www.hr.uillinois.edu/benefits>.

Starting date: Negotiable after the closing date.

Application procedures: To receive full consideration applications must be received by November 15, 2022. Applicants may be interviewed before the closing date; however, no hiring decision will be made until after that date, and applications will continue to be accepted until the position is filled. The University of Illinois conducts criminal background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a contingent offer. Please create your candidate profile through <http://jobs.illinois.edu> and upload application materials, including cover letter, resume, and contact information for 3 references. Additional information about the position may be obtained by contacting Drs. Jenica Haraschak (jenicah@illinois.edu), or Meghan Fick (mefick@illinois.edu).