

DAY AT THE OPEN HOUSE

VET MED COMES TO LIFE!

Go behind-the-scenes at the state's only veterinary college to see what makes the veterinary profession come alive.

Kids! Pick up a scavenger hunt card at the Welcome Tent. Follow the pathways to collect stamps at four-in-a-row booths listed on the card, then bring your card back to the Welcome Tent to collect a prize!

WHAT YOU MAY NEED

FIRST AID/NURSE

First aid is in the first-floor lounge area at the southeast corner of the Basic Sciences Building.

LOST CHILD MEETING POINT

You may report or bring lost children and lost items to the information table in the Welcome Tent.

ELEVATORS

There are two elevators in the Basic Sciences Building to help you reach exhibits on the second floor: 1. At the main (east) entrance, and 2. Behind the Anatomy Lab, on the southwest side of the building.

FOOD

Meals are available for purchase from the Production Medicine Club in the courtyard between the Small and Large Animal Clinics.

PHOTO NOTICE

By attending Vet Med Open House, you consent to your image being used in University marketing, social media, and publications. Please alert the photographer if you don't want your photograph taken.

COMMENTS/CONCERNS

If you wish to contact the College of Veterinary Medicine with a non-emergency question or concern, go to the Welcome Tent or send an email to editor@vetmed.illinois.edu for a reply during regular business hours.

IMPORTANT NOTICES

No Food Zones

Food is allowed only in the café and courtyard. Do not bring food into the animal areas. Please sanitize your hands immediately after any animal contact.

Have you been outside the U.S. in the past 2 weeks?

If so, please notify a student in the Welcome Tent BEFORE entering the Large Animal Clinic.

To protect the health of our animal patients, the Veterinary Teaching Hospital requires us to assess whether you may pose a risk of spreading a foreign animal disease.
